CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Andrassy

NATIONAL SECURITY
FELLOWSHIP

“It is always better to be sure that we cannot be harmed, than to assume that no one wants to harm us.”

– Gyula Andrassy

The Center for European Policy Analysis (CEPA), together with The Hungary Initiatives Foundation (HIF), is pleased to announce the third call for applications for the Andrassy National Security Fellowship - a six-month fellowship program aimed at cultivating the next generation of Hungarian strategic thinkers committed to strengthening ties between Hungary and the United States.

During their time in Washington, Andrassy Fellows will be paired with a specific CEPA program – Strategy and Statecraft, StratCom, Defense, Energy Security – that matches their main interests. Each Fellow will work with a designated CEPA scholar and will conduct independent research. Andrassy Fellows will participate in outreach to the U.S. policy community and produce high-quality policy analysis. The Andrassy Fellowship will feature an expert roundtable event hosted by CEPA and the publication of an analytical paper showcasing the Fellows' work. Fellows will also work with core CEPA staff on a full spectrum of think tank processes including, policy briefings, brainstorming sessions, networking, and program planning and administration.

CEPA will provide a $3000 monthly stipend, cover roundtrip travel to Washington, D.C., and provide assistance for the Fellow's visa application process. The fellowship period will run September 2018 through February 2019.

The Fellowship was conceived in the spirit and legacy of Hungarian statesman Gyula Andrassy, who served as Prime Minister of Hungary (1867–1871) and Foreign Minister of Austria-Hungary. Alongside Bismarck, he was an architect of European order gifted, in the words of a contemporary, “with great perspicacity, large minded and liberal views, and the decision of character so necessary to be a ruler of men ... ever governed by a feeling of justice and honour in the performance of his duty.”
